Dear Sir/Madam

RE: Review of criteria for acceptance of test results for pattern approval

1. About Grain Trade Australia

Grain Trade Australia (GTA) is the focal point for the commercial grains industry within Australia. It facilitates trade and works to provide an efficient, equitable and open trading environment by providing leadership, advocacy and commercial services to the Australian grain value chain.

GTA members are responsible for over 95% of all grain storage and freight movements made each year in Australia. Over 95% of the grain contracts executed in Australia each year refer to GTA grain standards and/or trade rules.

GTA members are drawn from all sectors of the grain value chain from production to domestic end users and exporters. GTA members are involved in grain trading activities, grain storage, grain for human consumption and stock feed milling. A list of all GTA members is attached.

Within this context, on behalf of its members, GTA provides comment on the Consultation Paper entitled "Review of criteria for acceptance of test results for pattern approval".

2. General Comments on the Proposal

The following is noted in the introductory section of the paper "Under the proposed revised policy, NMI will articulate a risk-based approach to the acceptance of test results from all laboratory facilities, including those affiliated with manufacturers, that:

- Have relevant accreditation to ISO/IEC 17025;
- Can demonstrate successful completion of an appropriate peer assessment process

This new approach is expected to reduce the regulatory burden on business and support innovation".

GTA fully supports the intent of the approach, through a reduction in regulatory burden (and thus potential reduction in cost to industry) where feasible. However support for that approach is predicated on a number of general principles, including:

- Maintenance of the current Standards in relation to pattern approval.
- The current consistency and formality of the Pattern Approval process should remain.
- The specifics of the current requirements such as technical compliance and enforcement must be included in any new or alternative approach, in order that the regulated metrology controls continue.
- The risk of reducing the transparency, accuracy and overall rigour of metrological controls should not be increased by any change in the current approach.

3. Specific Comments

3.1 Use of External Testing Facilities

GTA fully supports the use of any facility to undertake the required work, including those that may or may not be affiliated with the instrument manufacturer. As stated in the Introduction, this change in policy may lead to reduced costs to industry, including a reduction in duplication of effort. It may also lead to greater innovation and thus introduction of instruments of benefit to industry in a timelier manner.

Acceptance of this change in policy would be on the proviso as outlined in the Consultation Paper that such an approach would require “NMI to clearly articulate and formalise its risk-based approach to the acceptance of test results from external testing facilities”. It is essential that all industry sectors are made aware of the approach of the NMI to assess such situations and that the process is not only transparent, but sufficiently rigorous.

3.2 Governance Structure of the Testing Facility

As noted in the consultation Paper, NMI would assess the test results from each category of testing facility based on a range of factors. The Consultation Paper includes reference to the “Governance Structure of the Testing Facility”.

It is unclear why this is mentioned (and thus by implication would be a key factor) when the robustness of the procedures and methods etc. used by the testing facility would by far have a higher weighting on the end result than the governance structure that in our view would only be a minor consideration.

3.3 Peer Assessment

It is also unclear how the process of “peer assessment” would work in practice and why this would be a key issue. Each facility type, test type etc. may require a different approach hence clear transparency of the requirements would need to be given by NMI to ensure the stated goals of reduced regulatory burden are to be achieved.

Several factors regarding this peer assessment remain unclear, such as “Who are the peers, what are their qualifications, especially in terms of their interests in the grain industry”.

4. Questions for Manufacturers and suppliers of Measuring Instruments

GTA has no comment on the specific questions raised in the Consultation Paper.

The issues paper raises several questions as noted above that should be clarified before GTA could agree to such an approach. We would welcome further discussions on these matters to address our concerns, either separately or via existing consultation mechanisms such as the Grain Quality Measurement Committee.

Thank you for your consideration of this response.
