WORK EXPERIENCE

Braden is the Site Supervisor at Universal Commodity Management's Moama Grain Storage site, which has a capacity of around 180,000mt across bunker and silo storage. His role is diverse, involving equipment operation, site supervision, maintenance, and logistics, including gensets, stackers, loaders, and weighbridge operations.

Before stepping into his current role, Braden gained broad industry experience through various harvest positions with Universal Commodity Management and earlier work as a construction estimator, truss fabricator, and groundsman in Darwin.

THE IMPORTANCE OF FIVE UNDER 30

Braden sees the Five Under 30 program as a valuable opportunity to expand his knowledge and network within the industry. Coming from a non-farming background, he believes the program will support his understanding of on-farm processes that affect grain quality and timing, while helping him navigate and share solutions to the challenges faced during harvest and grain grading.
